

SEO Audit

Xtreme Interior Home Cleaning Services

xtremeinteriorhomecleaningservices.ca

PREPARED BY ROHAM GHIASI | SEO AND SEARCH VISIBILITY

07 AUGUST 2026

Where the site stands right now

Website	https://xtremeinteriorhomecleaningservices.ca
Business	Xtreme Interior Home Cleaning Services
Platform	Squarespace
Primary language	en-CA
Indexation	13 URLs in sitemap, 11 crawled, no canonical tags
Overall SEO health	Solid foundation, eight fixable leaks

What's holding the site back

Area	Finding
● Title, meta and heading structure	Your homepage has no H1, so nothing on the page states its main subject, and the title tag, while a healthy 79 characters, does not contain the word house. Searches for your service are built around that word, so Google has to guess what the page is about. The meta description is present and correctly sized at 163 characters and you have 7 H2 headings in the right band, so the frame is there. It is just missing the two signals that matter most.
● Index control	Your sitemap is live at /sitemap.xml with 13 URLs, which is good, but the homepage carries no canonical tag. Without one, any URL variation Google finds gets treated as a separate page, which splits ranking signals that should all point at one address.
● HTTPS and redirects	One image still loads over plain http on your https pages, a Squarespace-hosted jpg. Mixed content like this triggers browser warnings and chips away at the secure-site signal Google uses, for the sake of one URL that takes minutes to fix.
● Links and internal linking	Five of the 11 pages crawled have no H1 and two title tags are duplicated across pages. Every page without an H1 is a page Google has to guess at, and duplicated titles make two pages compete for the same search instead of each owning its own. That flattens the whole site's ability to rank service by service.
● Review and trust signals	There is no enquiry form on the homepage and no tap-to-call link, so every lead has to manually phone or email. On mobile, where most local cleaning searches happen, each extra step loses people who would have converted with one tap.
● Images and speed	18 images are served as jpg or png with no WebP versions, and the homepage HTML transfers 433 KB. Converting those images to compressed WebP is a direct mobile load-speed win, and load speed is both a ranking factor and the difference between a visitor waiting or leaving.

Area	Finding
● Structure and content	The homepage carries 751 words. A page built to rank for a service runs 1500 to 2500, because that is what it takes to answer the questions a buyer has before they call, and yours is well under that. The only schema present is WebSite, and there is no FAQPage schema, which is worth adding for the question coverage itself since those answers are content Google can rank you for.
● Google profile alignment	The phone number on your site matches your Google profile exactly, which is the right start. But there is no LocalBusiness schema, so the site never states its name, address and phone in a machine-readable way, and there is no Google map embed, a standard local relevance signal. For a Calgary service business, those two gaps weaken the link between your website and your map listing.
● Error pages and dead URLs	Dead URLs return a proper 404 and no error pages are exposed. That means no broken pages leaking into the index and no crawl budget wasted on junk, which is cleaner than most sites we audit.
● Internal linking	The 10 pages crawled are properly wired. Nothing is orphaned, the homepage feeds the deeper pages and they link back, so once the headings and titles are fixed, link authority will already flow where it should.

Your homepage never tells Google it is about house cleaning, no H1 and a title without the word house means the page you most need ranking is invisible for the exact search Calgary customers type.

The fix, in priority order

When	What happens
Week 1	Add an H1 to the homepage and the 4 other pages missing one, rewrite the title tag around house cleaning Calgary, and split the 2 duplicated titles so every page owns its own search. This is the fix that unblocks everything else.
Weeks 1-2	Set a canonical tag on the homepage, fix the one http image so every asset loads over https, and add LocalBusiness schema stating your name, address and phone so Google can tie the site to your profile.
Weeks 2-4	Convert the 18 jpg and png images to compressed WebP, add an enquiry form and a tap-to-call link to the homepage, and embed a Google map to strengthen the local relevance signal.
Month 2+	Grow the homepage from 751 words toward the 1500 to 2500 a ranking service page needs, add FAQ content with FAQPage schema, and build out the question coverage a buyer wants answered before they call.

What clean SEO is worth

People hiring a house cleaner in Calgary search, tap the first two or three results, and call whoever picks up easiest. Right now your homepage does not name the service in its H1 or title, so you are not in that shortlist for the searches that matter. Fix the headings, the schema and the local signals, and the same site starts showing up for house cleaning searches with a page that lets a mobile visitor call or enquire in one tap. The site is already well built and well linked. It just is not saying the words that get it found.

The work to be carried out

What we handle	What we need from you
• Rewrite titles and add H1s across all 11 pages • Canonical tags, mixed content fix and LocalBusiness schema • WebP conversion of all 18 images • Enquiry form, tap-to-call and map embed on the homepage • Homepage content expansion with FAQ coverage • Verification in Search Console after each change	• Squarespace admin access • Access to your Google Business Profile • Your service areas and the jobs you most want more of • Any before-and-after photos or reviews we can use on the page

Why this matters

Your site is in better shape than most we look at. Clean 404 handling, a live sitemap, solid internal linking, a phone number that matches your Google profile, and a meta description sized right. What is broken is concentrated in one place: the site never plainly says house cleaning where Google reads for it, not in the H1 that does not exist, not in the title, not in machine-readable schema. That is why a well-built site can still sit under thinner competitors. Tighten those signals and this becomes a site that ranks for the searches Calgary homeowners actually type and converts them the moment they land.

Happy to walk you through any of this, no pitch.
Or reply to rohamghiasicw@gmail.com